

There is a minus 100% chance that the above could be published in a newspaper today. Nor my old Hare Krishna strips. Religion and the mere mention of it seems now to turn the brains of newspaper editors into a sort of thin gruel. I think in the same sense that extended physical fear can give rock climbers constipation.—BB

